THE CONSTITUTION.

BY W. A. HEMPHILL & CO. | ATLANTA, GEORGIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1869. | VOLUME 1---NUMBER 222

EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA::::::::JUNE 25.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of a call this morning, from Mr. Smith, late editor of a Wisconsin paper. He has come to Georgia to locate.

☞ The Southern Insurance Company, is certainly very popular among the ladies of South Carolina, if we are to judge by the number of the fair sex that are insuring in it.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.—In another column will be found a communication signed, "Everybody," from a prominent citizen, in regard to certain city improvements mentioned therein. We are unacquainted with the merits of the matter touched upon, but recognize the general principle that broad utility and judicious economy should mark such things. We offer our columns to the other side of the question, that the subject may be fairly agitated.—Perhaps our city contemporaries might throw light upon it. The tax-payers are certainly interested.

☞ The Macon Telegraph tells us of a "Memorial Volume of General Howell Cobb," edited by Rev. S. Boykin, of Macon, that will prove very interesting to the Georgia reader. Its appearance will be handsome. It will contain the addresses, in honor of Gen. Cobb, made at Athens and Macon, the funeral sermons, the able sketch of Hon. E. A. Nesbit, the account of his last moments, by Bishop Beckwith, and other interesting tributes of love and admiration. Orders for the book can be sent to Mr. S. Boykin, Macon, Ga.

IMPORTANT DOCUMENT.

Report of Col. B. W. Frobel, Superintendent of Public Works, Upon the Chattanooga and Alabama Railroad.

We have obtained from Col. Frobel, for the benefit of our readers, this report, which will be found to contain matter of much importance to our North Georgia friends:

OFFICE SUPT. PUBLIC WORKS,
ATLANTA, GA., June 18, 1869.

His Excellency R. B. Bullock, Governor of Georgia:

GOVERNOR: In obedience to your order, communicated to me on the 22d ult., and in compliance with the requirements of a joint resolution of the Legislature, approved Sept. 21st, 1868, I have examined the "Chattanooga and Alabama Railroad," and would respectfully submit the following report of its present condition.

I find that the cars are daily passing over that portion, which lies within the State of Georgia, and to which the Legislature, at its recent session, extended the aid of the State. The road-bed was being graded for a single track, the superstructure consisting of good oak ties, and a T rail of fifty-seven pounds to the yard. There are depots at Trenton and Morgan, built of brick, sufficiently commodious and well constructed, and the Road is furnished with necessary "sidings" and "turn-outs." "Howe-truss" bridges, built upon substantial stone abutments, span every stream, except four. Over these, strong tressels of oak timber have been built, for temporary use, but these are being replaced by truss bridges, as expeditiously as possible. A few weeks will suffice to complete this portion of the work, making it one of the best built roads in the South. That portion within this State has been built upon a maximum grade of fifty feet to the mile, and with curves that are safe and easy.

The charter authorizes the building of a road from Chattanooga, Tennessee, to Meridian, Mississippi, with the design of ultimately extending it to New Orleans, making thereby a great air-line route between that city and New York, by way of Linchburg, Alexandria, Washington city, Baltimore, and Philadelphia.

The distance which this road passes through Georgia, is (24 3-10) twenty-four and three-tenths miles. This link has been equipped at an average cost of ($28,000) twenty-eight thousand dollars per mile; the State agreeing by an act of 1869, that when the said twenty-four and three-tenths miles are completed to endorse the bonds of said Company to the amount of eight thousand dollars per mile for all that portion built within the limits of this State, and making thereby an aggregate guarantee to said Company of ($194,400) one hundred and ninety-four thousand and four hundred dollars, the payment of which is secured by a lien upon the road, and other property of the Company.

I find the equipments of the road consist at present, of two locomotives, and fifteen passenger and freight cars, all in good repair. Two other locomotives have been contracted for, and are in course of construction. I find also that the company has sold ($400,000) four hundred thousand dollars, of these first mortgage bonds endorsed by the State of Alabama at prices ranging from 95 to 97½ per cent.

The first grand lines of this road, from Chattanooga to Meridian, will be about 280 miles long, and its estimated cost seven million dollars. Of this amount, two million dollars, have been paid in, of which sum the major portion has been advanced by foreign capitalists. Of the 280 miles of contemplated line, 39 7-10 miles has already been completed, viz: 24 3-10 miles in Georgia; 18 7-10 miles in Mississipi; 13 7-10 miles in Alabama, and 3 miles in Tennessee, in addition to which 60 miles of grading, in Alabama, has, also, been reported ready for the superstructure. The agent of the company assures me of their confidence in being able to open the road, to Gadsden, (80 miles from Chattanooga,) in time to haul the present year's crop. The entire cost of the road, up to this time, has been $3,600,027.

Great credit is due I. C. Staunton, Esq., the Actuary of the Company, for the energy he has displayed in prosecuting this work, which is one of great importance to the whole Southwestern portion of the country. In Georgia, the road traverses Lookout Valley, passing through the entire length of Dade county, and opening up one of the most valuable agricultural and mineral sections of the State—a region abounding in coal and iron, and noted for the healthfulness of its climate and the productiveness of its soil.

As, has been previously stated, the bulk of the capital employed in the prosecution of this work, is foreign, and we earnestly hope that the success, which this Company may meet, will induce others to follow an example which promises so much of remuneration to private enterprise, and of prosperity to the State.

I am, sir, very respectfully,
B. W. FROBEL,
Engineer and Supt. Public Works.

☞ The English Privy Council have recently decided that bankers are not responsible for securities deposited with them, provided they have exercised reasonable care.

☞ When Carlyle was taking tea with Victoria, the other day, he grumblingly remarked, "There is nothing but wealth;" and the latter replied, "There is some poverty, Mr. Carlyle."

Mother's Kisses.

From the Nursery.]

A kiss when I wake in the morning,
A kiss when I go to bed,
A kiss when I burn my fingers,
A kiss when I bump my head.

A kiss when my bath is over,
A kiss when my bath begins;
My mamma is full of kisses,
As the nurse is of pins.

A kiss when I play with my rattle,
A kiss when I pull her hair;
She covered me over with kisses
The day I fell from the stairs.

A kiss when I give her trouble,
A kiss when I give her joy;
There's nothing like mamma's kisses
To her own little baby boy.

STATE CORRESPONDENCE.

Educational Notes—Forsyth—Monroe Female College—Hilliard Male Institute—Vineville—Personal—Col. Acton, or "Earnest," as Lyricist.

MONROE FEMALE COLLEGE.

A location, elevated, healthful and accessible; a society, intelligent, cultivated and refined, and a Faculty, experienced, faithful and successful, mark the prominent traits of this Institution. Its founders seem to have been in quest of a first-class Seminary, and to have been unwilling to rest until they discovered or made it. Mr. Hillyer, the President, is a gentleman who combines all the essentials requisite to his responsible position, and the Board of Instructors seem to have found the secret of not merely graduating their pupils learned but able. The vice of mere word repetition which I have sometimes thought to be inherent in young ladies, and which sometimes degenerates into languer and lethargy, is here steadily opposed by vigorous efforts, which summon up all the resolution and the will. The pupils are not merely taught — that is little—they are made to think, to judge, to select and to digest. They gain strength as well as knowledge.

The number of pupils at present in attendance is good. The close of the term is near at hand when the senior class will read original exercises. Col. C. Peeples, Griffin, delivers the literary address, and the young ladies give their Annual Promenade Concert.

The institution is sixteen years old, and has no endowment. It is one of the few channels into which public funds might flow, and in which they would be consecrated to the best of uses.

THE HILLIARD MALE INSTITUTE

is at present under the charge of Mr. John W. Rudisill, engaged by the Trustees as Principal for 1869. The experience and reputation of Mr. Rudisill as a teacher, and strong testimonials from high sources, entitle him to the fullest confidence. At this Institute pupils are prepared for advance classes in college. The arrangement of terms in this school demands honorable mention. No respect is paid to that high pressure system, by which pupils are kept at work ten hours per day for ten months in the year. A pressure for which parents, and not teachers are responsible. This Institute is one of the few among us who practice upon the neglected truth, that it is not what a man knows so much, as what he is, that tells in life. It believes that what you can tell, is of somewhat less importance than what you can do. Mere mental accumulation is of slight weight compared with memory or judgment, considered as forces of the mind.

Forsyth is the nearest station from which to reach Indian Springs, and the resort-seeker will find at the hotel pleasant treatment, and speedy carriage by the livery of J. G. Greer & Co.

At Vineville, just out of Macon, it should be remarked, that the school is about to be discontinued. It has not of late been in a flourishing condition. In this locality, education needs centralizing.

I have just had the pleasure of meeting Col. Acton, your traveling agent. He reminds me of the answer of Falstaff. When asked what he was about, he replies, "three yards or more." In spite of his slight tendency to embonpoint, the Colonel travels with surprising energy. Perhaps he should be termed the in-de-fat-i-ga-ble. Anecdotally I may remark, that when the other day, a very beautiful and accomplished young lady, in a social conversation enquired why "Big John" and Presslay, of Rome, Major Harris, of Atlanta, and, not least, your traveling agent, were so popular among the ladies, the Colonel made one of those Brummelian bows, for which he is becoming famous, and improvised the following:

"'Tis emotion that charmeth a woman
Whether whispered in words or in eyes,
With us, the feeling expressed 's superhuman,
We carry it, my friend, in our sighs!"

"EARNEST."

Kisses—Interesting Anecdotes Relating Thereto.

When the Cardinal John of Lorraine was presented to the Duchess of Savoy, she gave him her hand to kiss, greatly to the indignation of the irate churchman. "How, madam," exclaimed he, "am I to be treated in this manner? I kiss the queen, my mistress, and shall I not kiss you, who are only a duchess?" and without more ado, he, despite the resistance of the proud little Portuguese princess, kissed her thrice on the mouth, before he released her, with an exultant laugh. The doughty cardinal was apparently of one mind with Shelden, who thought to kiss ladies' hands after their lips, as some do, is like little boys who, after they eat an apple, fall to the paring. When Charles II. was making his triumphal progress through England, certain country ladies who were presented to him, instead of kissing the royal hand, in their simplicity held up their pretty mouths to be kissed by the king—a blunder no one would more willingly excuse than the lover of pretty Nell Gwynn. Another poet, the countryman of Chartier, had, two centuries later, the honor of being publicly kissed in the stage box by the young and lovely Countess de Villars; but in Voltaire's case, the lady gave the osculatory salute not of her own free will, but in obedience to the command of the claqueurs in the pit, mad with enthusiasm for the poet's "Merope."

Georgiana, Duchess of Devonshire, as our readers will remember, gave Steel, the butcher, a kiss for his vote nearly a century since, and another equally beautiful woman, Jane, Duchess of Gordon, recruited her regiment in a similar manner. Duncan Mackenzie, a veteran of Waterloo, died in Elgin, Scotland, December, 1866. He delighted in relating how he kissed the duchess, in taking the shilling from between her teeth to become one of her regiment—the Gordon Highlanders, better known as the 92d. The old Scottish veteran of eighty-seven has not left one behind him to tell the same tale about kissing the blue-eyed duchess in the market place of Duthill. The late Daniel O'Connel hit upon a novel method of securing votes for the candidates he had named at a certain election, which test, considering the constitutional temperament of his countrymen, is said to have proved effectual. He said, in reference to the unfortunate elector who should vote against them, "Let no man speak to him. Let no woman salute him!" Gilbert Stuart, the portrait painter, is said to have once met a lady in the streets of Boston, who accosted him with: "Ah! Mr. Stuart, I have just seen your likeness, and kissed it, because it was so much like you." "And did it kiss you in return?" "Why, no." "Then," said the gallant painter, "it was not like me."

Chevalier Bunsen, who rose from an humble position in life to great honor, was a man of vast savoir, but little erudition.—As a theologian, the character to which he most aspired, he was severely criticised by the celebrated Dr. Merle D'Aubigne. The two savans met at Berlin, at the Evangelican Alliance, held several years ago. Bunsen kissed Merle; of course the polite Geneven could but return the compliment. Great was the ado about the "kiss of reconciliation," as the Germans called it, much to the annoyance of Dr. Merle, who had no idea of compromising the solemn writers of theology by a kiss. Besides, he said, he preferred the English custom in kissing, to the German. A delicate insinuation that, but the Professor meant nothing.

The Rev. Sidney Smith says: "We are in favor of a certain amount of shyness when a kiss is proposed, but it should not be too long, and, when the fair one gives it, let it be administered with warmth and energy—let there be a soul in it. If she closes her eyes and sigh immediately after it, the effect is greater. She should be careful not to slobber a kiss, but give it as a humming-bird runs his bill into a honey-suckle—deep but delicate. There is much virtue in a kiss when well delivered. We have the memory of one we received in our mouth, which lasted us forty years, and we believe it will be one of the last things we shall think of when we die."

At Boulogne, during the reception of Queen Victoria, June, 1855, a number of English ladies, in their anxiety to see everything, pressed with such force against the soldiers, who were keeping the line, that the latter, in some instances, were obliged to give way, and generally were—to use the expression of our policemen—"impeded in the execution of their duty." The officer in command, observing the state of affairs, shouted out, "One roll of the drum—if they don't keep back, kiss them all." At the first sound of the drum, the English ladies took to flight. "If they had been French," said a Parisian journal, "they would have remained to a woman."

ALLIGATORS.—Mr. Doolittle, a citizen of this county, left on yesterday's train for the North, with three alligators—the largest being nine feet ten inches in length. We believe he proposes to exhibit his pets in the North, and he will probably make a good thing of it.—Americus Courier.

THE election of officers of Morgan county Agricultural Society, for the year 1869, resulted as follows: President, J. A. Billups; Vice-President, G. F. Ponder; Corresponding Secretary, Capt. B. H. True; Recording Secretary, J. C. Burnett; Treasurer, Capt. C. H. Andrews.—Madison Examiner.

B. A WISE, OF MACON.—Twenty years ago Mr. W. was a poor boy, working in this place as a tinner, and by his untiring energy and strict attention to business, has won for himself an envious reputation.—He has also a large Hardware store. His success in business is derived, in a great measure, from a liberal use of printer's ink.—Americus Republican.

THE Rome Commercial discusses very handsomely the question of re-seating the expelled members of the present Legislature, and argues against it.

CONFESSION OF THE MURDERER OF MR. ADKINS D. LEWIS.—A friend at Waynesboro sent us by yesterday's mail the confession of Ben. Godby, the negro charged with the murder of Mr. Adkins D. Lewis, near that place. The preliminary examination of the prisoner takes place to-day at Waynesboro. The confession is as follows:

"The woman Mariah, struck by Lewis, was not my wife, I just took up with her; my wife is named Clara; Clara was cook for Mr. Lewis; went home at night; Mariah showed me a rock; said Mr. Lewis struck her with it; Enoch told me if 'twas his wife he'd not rest until he killed Lewis; told me to wait till he (Lewis) came into the field in the morning and cut him all to pieces; Mr. Lewis came meeting us, two cotton rows from me; he stopped me and talked about Mariah; Enoch kept on ploughing; had no hard words with Lewis; he made no threats; he was standing with his side to me when I cut him; don't know where I cut him first; Enoch told me to kill Lewis, to go to Augusta, and the head man there would do something about Lewis knocking my wife; Enoch did not tell me I would be protected by anybody for killing Lewis; I never told the man in Augusta that I was afraid of a mob of white men in Burke county; he told me I done right to come to Augusta; that I would be mobbed if I hadn't; I am not afraid now of being mobbed; I stopped at Mr. Johnson's, at Double Branches; he asked me what made the blood on my wife's clothing; told him a white man done it; told him I was going to Augusta to see the head man; he said Waynesboro was the place to get justice; I am not afraid of being mobbed; I believe I will get justice."—Augusta Constitutionalist.

THE Greensboro Herald thinks, if it can be legally done, the expelled negroes should be put back in the Legislature, but it is in doubt whether or not it can be done.

THE Valadosta Times comes to us in mourning of its accomplished editor, Maj. P. C. Pendleton. He was born, in Eatonton, in 1812. He began life in the law, at Macon. He took part in the Indian war, in Florida. He was connected with the "News Carrier," "Southern Post," "Southern Lady's Book," "The Magnolia," "Sandersville Georgian," and "The Times." He married Miss Tebeau, of Savannah. He raised a company for the 50th Georgia Infantry, in the late war, rose to be Major of the Regiment, and participated, gallantly, in the Virginia campaigns. He was a Christian, and his loss will be felt.

THE Marietta Journal, commenting upon the negro eligibility question, very sensibly urges that we push the practical programe of developing the country, and bear patiently, evils we cannot now help.

The Augusta Chronicle has an able leader upon the same subject, and quotes from "Story on the Constitution," to show conclusively, that there can be no doubt as a simple legal question, that the expelled members of the Assembly cannot be restored.

☞ Married men live longer than single ones, In 1,000 persons, 650 marry, and more marriages occur in June and December than in any other months of the year.

☞ A little boy disputing with his sister, recently, exclaimed: "It's true, for ma says so; and if ma says so, it is so, if it ain't so."

"What shall I do to keep warm?" asked a shivering, slightly dressed lady.

"I really don't know, unless thee puts on another breastpin," said a solemn looking Quaker.

THE Griffin Star pitches heavily and sensibly into the mania of our people for raising cotton, to the neglect of a sufficient provision crop.

State of Georgia, Fulton County.

To the Honorable the Superior Court of said County.

THE petition of John M. Born, Jr., Volney Dunning, W. H. Clayton, S. S. Brown and George S. Cobb, of said county, sheweth that they, with such other persons as now are, or may hereafter be associated with them, desire to be incorporated under the name and style of "The Express Real Estate and Building Association."

The objects of said Association shall be the accumulation of a fund by monthly subscriptions or savings of the members thereof, to be invested in real estate, or in such other manner as the Board of Directors may elect (except banking.)

Their place of doing business shall be in the City of Atlanta, Georgia.

The amount of capital to be employed shall be Three Hundred Shares of Sixty Dollars each, to be paid as follows: One dollar on each share at the time of subscribing and one dollar on each share each month thereafter until said shares are fully paid. The capital stock may be increased to one thousand shares or any intermediate number by a vote of the Board of Directors. None of said stock is at present paid in. They desire to be incorporated for nineteen years.

A. B. CULBERSON, Petitioners Attorney.

SICKLES IN TROUBLE.—The Attorney General, Hoar, does by chance plumb the law right once in a while. He has decided that Sickles cannot retain his position in the army, and at the same time be Minister to Spain. Sickles is in a quandary—don't know which to drop—wants both, but must give up one. We suggest, that if he can by any crook get Hoar to think Southern reconstruction is mixed up in it, we will answer for the result—he can wear the straps and flirt in Spain at the same time.

Negro Silk and Linen Weavers.

The Nashville Banner has a long leader on "Negroes as Silk Weavers." In weaving, the friction of the shuttle on the warp, has rendered skillful work necessary for the making of fine fabrics. An American inventor, Mr. James Lyall, has remedied the difficulty, by inventing an addition to the loom, which carries the shuttle across the warp without friction, and which a negro or child can use. This shuttle permits the construction of the largest power-looms in the world, weaving fabrics six yards in width. Will not this revolutionize the making of fine linens and silks, by obviating the need for expensive skilled labor, and giving another field for the use of our black working capacity? Does it not bear potently upon the subject of the manufacture of these luxuries?

The Coming Woman.

Rev. C. H. Fowler, of Chicago, delivered a witty lecture in Cincinnati, on the "Coming Woman." Some of his points are very fine. He thus cleverly expresses the great truth that woman's standing, is the gauge of a nation's progress:

"Woman is the thermometer of the world's civilization. Find her round on the ladder and you count the libraries, number the schools, test the churches, and measure the railroads without taking another step. Sparta strangled female infants and taught her sons to steal. Athens, in better mind, boasted of her Aspasia. The glory of Athens is exhibited best with Sparta as a back ground."

In classifying women he very happily hits upon this picture:

He chose a classification resting upon gifts, graces and chances, nature, action and opportunity. The thinking, christian as central, the merely working woman as the extreme right wing, and the merely fashionable woman as the extreme left wing, comprised, in his judgment, the noble army of womankind. He showed that the merely working woman could not be the Coming Woman. She is useful, but so is a broom. Bridget is only muscle, and cannot dominate society. The fashionable woman cannot be the Coming Woman. She has some strength, but all fashion needs curtailing from the stand-point of the New Testament.

He steps out of the way, it must be confessed, to administer the following comical slap at the quaint specimens of mankind that have become fashionable over the country—a class of men, that doubtless, in pure revenge upon the strong-minded females that are grasping for masculinity, are striving to approximate in sober earnestness to the best realization of ultra-feminine effeminacy:

"Just think of St. Paul standing in a pair of schooner-toed boots, regular fore-and-afters, his masts bandaged with a pair of streaked pataloons, his mainsails and jibs bobbed off to match, with a tall stove-pipe topsail cocked on one side of his head, wearing a dyed mustache and yellow dog-skin glove, twirling a fop-stick. What a sad figure such a craft would make navigating the moral judgment of mankind.

The graphic lecturer stated several essentials for the Coming Woman. He thought she must be healthy:

"The Coming Woman dwells in a sound body." "Her divinest work, maternity," throbs "demands health." The exalted If you taste and wear, struggle and peril, ... poor, health brings bread; if ...

...them are dangerous; men who generate them must be handled carefully, like percussion boxes.

As the race comes up from blood to brain, it comes within the reach of woman's capabilities.

All this seems orthodox. But this sharp thinker and clever writer takes a tangent. Listen to him.

She must be a politician,—that is, she must vote. But this must not be misunderstood. You may have the image of a short-haired, short-dressed, wiry-faced, hooked-nosed, cross-eyed, razor-shinned, cracked-voiced, gimlet of a woman, standing on a stump, with her forefinger working like a patent tooth-pick, haranguing a crowd about woman's wrongs, and the specter may make you shiver, but that is not female suffrage, but female suffering.

With true democratic impartiality, however, he cannot resist a swipe on a weak spot, and thus scathes the other side:

Turn over the leaf, one short, stout, pursey, bloated, blear-eyed, staggering, guzzling, druling beast, selling his vote to a thief, a liar, a gambler, a libertine, an assassin, for a glass of beer, makes you shudder. Behind him, a broad-nosed, red mouthed, man, with hair on his teeth, a shillalah in his hand, a brogue in his speech, and in his lips, voting to please the priest.

He gives some sound advice with his petticoat enfranchisement heresy, which advice will do to quote:

You need not cut off your hair, nor split your voice, nor swing your arms, to vote. Rocking the cradle is better preparation for the ballot than tending a bar. The women voting will settle the temperance question. It is not the demand of the sex, but of the age; it is born of the necessities of the Republic.

He finally winds up with the following striking sentences—terse, epigrammatic, original, interestingly readable:

The Coming Woman will be a Christian. She is religious in her nature. The Bible is her first, fast and peculiar friend. The Bible women, three thousand years ago, had as many rights as we have now. A maid might go anywhere unprotected—to insult her was to die; but here the libertine may snatch away your intended bride, and your only satisfaction must plunge you into murder. If you leave vengeance to God, society gathers up her frills and ruffles, and primps by on the other side, or in holy indignation clutches the poor victim, and casts her forth in scorn, or, trampling her in the dust, stretches up to crown the villain who compassed her ruin. They did better than this thirty centuries ago. The seducer was slain like a dog, and the maid received the sympathy of the people, and the protection of the church. It was not a woman that denied Jesus, nor a woman that thrust him with a spear, but it was a woman that washed and kissed his feet, a woman that anointed him for his burial, a woman to whom he first appeared.

The Coming Woman will be a queen, a controlling force. She has an instinct, a kind of sixth sense, by which she finds the hypothenuse without traversing the sides of the right angle, detects the villain without reading the police reports, the saint, without searching the calendar. As wings do not amputate the eagle's feet, but carry them aloft, so this instinct does not preclude reason, but supercedes it. She has sympathy. The solvent in nature is water, not fire; in influence, tears not logic. She has courage. This is a winning card, is an acquisition, is experience. She has will. "If she will, she will, and you may depend on't; if she won't, she won't, and that's the end on't." She has persistency, the secret of God's success. He builds nations by littles. He furnished the men in the great war that we might hold on and fight it out. Lincoln hit it, when he said we will keep pegging away. She has sacrifice. History is a true thing, it retains only the worthy. True, the race finds only the hemlock for the living Socrates, only the dagger and the mob for the living Cicero, only the cross for the living divine, Jesus, yet these names come into history, rise above the strife of the times, and shine with increasing glory, while we search in vain for the men who mixed the hemlock, held the dagger, or planted the cross.

The other day Protestant England united with Papal France to break the power of Greek-Christian Russia, in the interest of Mohammedan Turkey. They wrestled on the peninsula of Crimea. All parties save Russia, who was beaten, came off second best, with treasure emptied, courage disparaged, character impugned and armies decimated. But on that eight thousand square miles of territory, so literally strewn with the slain of the allies, only one name was written. The warriors who commanded are forgotten in the first decade. The cabinets that planned, are remembered no longer. But Florence Nightingale, an English maiden, the angel of the Crimea, washes her robes and makes them white in the blood of the wounded, and rises into history, to be remembered long after the Emperor and the Czar are forgotten.

☞ The Keokuk, (Iowa,) Constitution has the following, which makes Grant all right on the Georgia question, even if he was slightly inebriated:

Offensively Personal.—A Washington correspondent says: When Bullock, the carpet-bag Governor of Georgia, went to Washington for the purpose of having the State reconstructed he went to see President Grant. The following letter, therefore, to Foster Blodgett, the new Postmaster at Augusta, explains itself:

WASHINGTON, April 3, 1869.

Dear Foster—I've just seen Grant. The d—d old fool is drunk, as usual. Can't make him "see it." All I can get out of him is, "George-s-ne-Uninman." Glorious old Ben is still hopeful. Hope you've kicked out the old sneak. Sumner, from the P. O. Make a clean sweep, and be sure to give some of the colored brethern a place.
"R. B. B."

The Press.

At the funeral of Mr. Raymond Henry Ward Beecher officiated. He thus speaks of the Press:

But there is, in this day, a pulpit which has no limit. It is that of the Press. It is literally the voice of one that speaks, that is crying in the wilderness. For all creeds, and for all the populace of the land throughout the nation's territories, from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, the daily papers speak; and there is not in modern civilization a power which can compare with this.

And follows in this strain upon Mr. Raymond's conduct of the Press, a model for newspaper men:

I remark how sigularly free his whole career has been from bitterness; how he refused to gain strength by the advocacy of passion; how he never used the malign passions, nor appealed to them in others; how reason and the higher moral sentiments breathed in his work; how to you, in these higher feelings he uttered himself.

☞ The Cincinnati Commercial thus sarcastically gets after the Cincinnati Enquirer:

"We observe with a thrill of satisfaction we are no longer able to keep secret, the growing vigilance of the editors of the Cincinnati Enquirer, in taking note of the appearance of every scrap of selected miscellany in the Commercial after it has been in the Enquirer. Instances of the kind are rare, but none of them escape our cotemporary. This is pleasing evidence of attention to business.

☞ "Is the carpet-bagger a human being?" asks the Richmond Whig.

Set him upon an auctioneer's block and see how much he will bring...

THRILLING.

Horrors of the Trapeze—An Outrageous Performance in Philadelphia.

A scene of considerable excitement occurred at the American Theatre, on Walnut street, above Eighth, on Saturday evening, during the flying trapeze performance of two artists, announced on the bills as Lilla and Zoe. One of their feats consists in Lilla, a full grown young woman, swinging herself by means of two ropes suspended from the ceiling, from a platform erected in front of the gallery, entirely across the auditorium, until she touches, with her feet, a trapeze that hangs at considerable altitude over the orchestra. Securing herself on this trapeze with her feet her body swings downward, and she remains in that position, while Zoe, a child of 11 years of age, mounts the platform in the gallery, and, seizing the iron rings attached to the ropes mentioned, throws herself off, and darts towards Lilla, and when nearing her, the child throws a sommersault in mid air, and her only chance from being crushed to death, by falling from the dizzy height among the audience in the parquette, is being caught by Lilla, who hangs with her head downward from the trapeze.

Certain death would be the result of the slightest mistake made by either of the performers. On Saturday evening the feat was successfully performed, it is true, but Lilla barely caught the child as she revolved in the air. As the latter was descending, however, to the stage, the man whose duty it was to catch her from the hands of Lilla, failed to do so, and the poor child fell to the platform placed over the orchestra, a distance of several feet, and struck her head, and otherwise injured herself.

The child was picked up, when she immediately placed her hands to her head, and it was apparent that she was seriously hurt. Notwithstanding this, she was most inhumanly ordered to remount the platform in the gallery and repeat the feat. The child obeyed, but such conduct on the part of those having charge of the exhibition was too much for the audience to stand, and there was a unanimous cry of "No, no!" "Shame, shame!" "Take her back, take her back!" etc. In the meantime the child mounted the platform, and then stood ready to repeat the feat, but the audience rose en masse, to their great credit, and prevented the ropes from being handed to her. Unable to combat such a display of public indignation and disapproval, the child was ordered to retire, which she did amid the most tumultuous applause. Now, whether she could have performed the feat again in her then condition, will be seen from the following:

After she had retired, the stage manager advanced and stated that she desired to perform another feat, and that she was not injured, and the consent of the audience was asked. There was a general cry of "No, no," and considerable hissing; but, taking advantage of a few cries of "Go on," from the boys in the gallery, the child again appeared, and mounting the platform, took hold of the rings and swung herself off for the purpose of catching the hanging trapeze, with her feet, and then making a sommersault while descending into an out-stretched net. As the audience felt would be the case, the child essayed the feat, but failed to catch the trapeze, owing to her nervous state, which was natural, under the circumstances, but she was saved from injury by her commendable presence of mind in not letting go of the ropes. The consequence was that she swung backwards and forwards, amid a scene of much excitement, and was relieved from her perilous position by the audience, who caught her and carried her to the stage.—Philadelphia Enquirer, 12th.

A NOTORIOUS WOMAN.

The Alleged Cyprian of an Ex-President—She Haunts Her Old Stamping Ground—Mrs. Cobb, the Pardon Broker.

Washington Correspondence Cincinnati Times.]

According to my usual custom, I took a walk through the White House, yesterday. It looked almost deserted. A couple of messengers were at the front door, who seemed at a loss how to kill time, as the stream of visitors, which, for weeks and months past, had inundated the mansion, "just to have a word or two with the President," had absolutely dried up. The only visitor in the main hall, down stairs, was a neat-looking, little woman, dressed in black, with a jaunty little hat upon her head. Her figure was petite and pretty, and her black eyes, as she turned them upon every new comer, were such as few men could fail to notice. It was the famous Mrs. Cobb, of pardon-broking notoriety, who seems to cherish a fondness for re-visiting the scenes of her former glory, and frequently may be seen chatting familiarly with the messengers and door-keepers, but, as far as I can learn, has never yet ventured upon an interview with President Grant.

Her history is a curious one, and I doubt not romantic, but as I do not enjoy the honor of her acquaintance, I am unable to give the interesting "points," which would fill a volume, if properly set forth. Some time ago she was employed in the secret service division of the late Administration, but it is fair to presume she has been removed from that on account of her devotion to Johnsonism. What she does now, or how she supports herself, is a mystery which I am unable to solve. She looks well, dresses well, and is everywhere recognized as one of the habitues of Washington society, whose movements aims and objects are a profound enigma. Some people suppose that this lady is pretty well advanced in years, but this not the case. She does not look to be thirty, and probably would pass for much less; has fine feathers, and is altogether a different looking person from what many people imagine her to be. But what can she want at the White House, is a question which has puzzled many others besides your humble servant, so I drop the subject.

THE TENNESSEE CAMPAIGN.—Attorney-General Tuthill, of the Criminal Court, attacked George Gresham, editor of the State Journal, the recently established Stokes organ, in the office of the latter. Tuthill fired a pistol at Gresham, whereupon the latter clinched him and a rough and tumble fight ensued, in which neither was hurt. The parties were arrested. The provocation on the part of Tuthill was an article in the Journal of Monday calling him a squirt. The affair was quite comical, and created considerable merriment.—Courier-Journal.

☞ The McConnellsville, Ohio, Herald relates the following Court scene: "At the last term of our Court of Common Pleas, in the case of Miss —— vs. ——, an impeaching witness was called and asked the usual question, 'Do you know the reputation of Mr. —— for truth and veracity in the neighborhood where he resides?' 'Well,' said the witness, 'his reputation for truth is very good, but his reputation for veracity, is considerably talked about.' 'What do you mean by veracity?' said the cross-examining attorney. 'Why, I mean he is bad after the wimmin!'"

☞ An Englishman was telling the late Col. Isaac O. Barnes, of Massachusetts, of the great rate the cars run in England. "Why, Colonel, in my country they go 75 miles an hour." "They do!" says the Colonel; "they couldn't run long at that rate, for they'd run off the d—d little island."

☞ Never chase your own hat when it blows off in a gale of wind; just stand still and you will presently see half a dozen persons in pursuit of it. When one has captured it, walk leisurly towards him, receive it with a graceful acknowledgement, and place it on your head; he will invariably act as if you had done him ... Try it.

BRITISH DANDER.

Blackwood on the Alabama Claims—Thinks the Confederacy should have been Recognized — John Bull and not Jonathan Won the Battle—Ranting Summer and Drivelling Chandler.

The Americans who feel "bitter," as they call it, against England, for want of sympathy—a sympathy, by the way, which the people and government of the United States never felt or expressed for England when she was engaged in quelling the Indian mutiny, or fighting against Russia, at Sebastopol, for the maintenance of the Turkish empire, or on any occasion whatever, either foreign or domestic—would do well to remember what would have happened had England agreed to the suggestions of the French Emperor. We were strongly of opinion then, we are still more strongly of opinion now, that France was right and England wrong on that occasion.

Had it not been for the fear entertained in Lord Palmerston's Cabinet that the anti-slavery pro-American and Exeter Hall influence would have placed it in a Parliamentary minority on the question, it is highly probable that so sagacious a statesman and thorough a man of the world as Lord Palmerston would have seen the obvious advantage of uniting with the French Emperor in the recognition of the Confederate States—a recognition that would have saved the unfortunate Emperor Maximilian, made a firm friend of the Southern nation, and rendered it impossible for the dismembered fragments of the once United States to play the part of Dictator in the affairs of the world, stir up Fenianism in Ireland, threaten the annexation of Canada, and present insulting and unconscionable claims against this country on any future occasion. Are these things which the triumphant North should either ignore or depreciate? We think not. We think, moreover, that the North owes its triumph as much to this very generous, but, as the result shows, somewhat foolish neutrality on the part of Great Britain, as to its own prowess, aided as the latter was by the adventurous rowdyism of Irishmen and Germans, who fought less for the sake of the North than for the sake of the previously unheard-of amounts of bounty-money offered to the volunteers. We do not accuse the American people; we only accuse the dominant faction that has got the upper hand, and hopes to retain it by the strong arm of military despotism in the South, and by hostility towards England—hostility which is cheap as long as it is confined to words and to speeches from its Sumners and Chandlers, but which might happen to become very dear, if it passed from their mouths to the hands of responsible statesman.

And after all, great and powerful as the United States undoubtedly are, they are not so great and powerful as to afford to be laughed at. Mr. Motley is supposed to come to London fully charged with the ideas and demands of Mr. Sumner—to hold a moral pistol at the head of poor John Bull, and demand not only his money, but his honor and self-respect. We believe nothing of the kind, however, and shall not do an eminent historian, philosopher, jurist, and statesman, or the President who nominated, and the Senate which confirmed him, the injustice of supposing that he is authorized to present to Great Britain, as bases of diplomatic action, the rant of Mr. Sumner, or the drivel of Mr. Chandler.

☞ The Tribune gets after one of our contemporaries, thus:

"The Macon Telegraph, of June 12th, came to The Tribune office, with a ten-cent Confederate postage-stamp attached. Have they a Rip Van Winkle there?"

☞ Greeley proposes to have Georgia so reconstructed, that Tribune correspondents there, can love their black mistresses without being subjected to jealousy.

☞ The landlord of a hotel said to a boarder, "Look o' here! I want you to pay your bill, and you must! I have asked you often enough for it, and I tell you now that you don't leave the house until you have paid it." "Good," said the lodger, "I'll stay with you as long as I live."

DR. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR

Medicine for Dyspepsia, Headache Jaundice, Costiveness, Camp Dysentery, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhoea, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fever, Nervousness, hills, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood Melancholy or Depression of Spirits.

Most of the ailments here enumerated have their origin in a diseased liver, which is the most prevalent affection in this country, and as in many cases the patient is not within the reach of a physician, it requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be active and safe. That such is the character of the SIMMONS REGULATOR there can be no doubt, which the testimony of hundreds will establish.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.

Pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade is mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when few of them existed, yet examination of the body after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the foregoing symptoms appear. It is a purely vegetable compound, is not injurious to the most delicate constitutions, and will keep the liver in healthy action if used properly.

Persons living in unhealthy localities may avoid all bilious attacks by taking a dose occasionally to keep the liver in healthy action.

Regulator For children complaining of colic, headache, or sick stomach a teaspoonful or more will give relief. Children, as well as adults, eat sometimes too much supper, or eat something which does not digest well, producing sour stomach, heart-burn, or restlessness; a good dose will give relief. This applies to persons of all ages.

Many persons, from eating too much, are restless at night, or in day time fidgety, wool-gathering, can't understand what they read, can't keep their thoughts on any one subject so as to reason well, or become fretful. One or two tablespoonful will give relief.

Jaundice.—Take enough Regulator after eating each meal to produce one full action from the bowels every day.

Pregnant ladies will find sure relief from their headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, etc., etc.

"YE LOCAL."—"Ye local" was absent yesterday, attending the Sunday School picnic, near Decatur, an account of which will appear in our evening edition.

THE LADIES' FAVORITE.—Our "Horace" seems to be a favorite with the young ladies, having received no less than three bouquets yesterday evening.

REV. W. M. CRUMLEY.—We are pleased to learn that Rev. W. M. Crumley has so far been restored to health, that he will (D. V.) preach, on to-morrow morning, at the usual hour, in Trinity Church.

SAVE THE BLACKBERRIES.—We would advise our country friends, to dry every blackberry possible, as that article now commands twenty-five cents per pound in New York.

MONROE FEMALE COLLEGE.—The commencement exercises of this College, begins on the second of July next. The Literary address will be delivered by Col. C. Peeples, and the address to the Alumneau Association, by Col. A. D. Hammond.

H. H. WITT.—H. H. Witt, commission merchant and dealer in family groceries, still maintains his old stand, on Peachtree, and by his untiring energy and integrity, is building up a large busines. He will be found prompt and reliable. by those who entrust business in his hands.

FORCE.—The Messrs. Force, wholesale dealers in boots and shoes, on Whitehall street, keep on hand a large and well selected stock of boots and shoes, of extra good quality, and will sell to country merchants, at New York cost—freight added.

What is It?

H. B. B. and B. B. M.

Where?

G. B. A. G.

Answer elsewhere.

M. O. MARKHAM.—M. O. Markham, has created a great revolution in the boot and shoe trade, at his store in Empire Block, by offering to the trade a large and well selected stock of boots and shoes, at low figures. In consequence of this, he has succeeded in developing a fine trade. He offers superior inducements to purchasers everywhere, and has on hand an ample supply to meet demands. Call and see him.

ADVERTISE.—Oh, advertise; it has many fortunes made, and brought many obscure, desponding men, to riches. fame and trade. Many a man, whose carriage rolls in splendor past your door. owes all he has to one fact, he advertised his store. We can not tell what we can do, until our sign is out, and everybody is made aware of what we are about. So our advice is—advertise! Don't 'neath the bushel hide; bring out your light before the world, and let the bushel slide!

THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.—A notice from Col. A. W. Hammond, informs us that we did him injustice in our report of the trial of an illegality case before Justice Thomas Spencer. If any injustice was done him, it was unintentional on our part. He states that Justice Spencer decided that the fi fa was dormant notwithstanding the Statute of Limitations, which is doubtless correct. We stated the decision in the exact language reported to us by a friend.

FINE STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS.—The energetic firm of Phillips & Crew have a large and beautiful stock of Stereoscopic Views, embracing American, English, Irish, Scotch, German, Italian, Alpine, Views of Ancient Greece and the Holy Land, on exhibition at their store. It will richly repay any one to call and examine the paintings and Stereoscopic Views at Phillips & Crews. These gentlemen are men of cultivated taste, and have always an eye to the beautiful in art and nature. Their supply of stationery and books are ample.

KENO NOT CORRECT.—Three parties were arrested, yesterday, for betting and playing at Keno, and carried, by the Sheriff, before Justice Smith, where warrants were issued, and they demanded a final trial, under the new law relating to misdemeanors, and Justice Smith ruled that they were entitled to it. The Solicitor General then dismissed the warrant, and took out others, and had the parties carried before Judge Pope, and they were committed to jail, in default of bonds of five hundred dollars, each. The case was argued by Solicitor General Howell, for the State, and Col. L. J. Glenn, Tidwell & Fears, and W. A. Tignor, for defense.

According to the law, as expounded by Judge Pope, which, we must admit is good, Keno is not correct.

ATLANTA, GA., June 21, 1869.—At a regular meeting of the Atlanta Bible Society, (auxiliary to the American Bible Society) Rev. Dr. Wilson, President, it was Resolved, That the Rev. Mr. Dunlap is appointed Colporteur for said Society, and is authorized to solicit donations in aid of the same.

Resolved, That the Rev. W. A. Parks be requested to continue his solicitations for contributions, in aid of this Society.

TO THE LADIES OF ATLANTA!

THE proprietor of the National Hotel

RESTAURANT!

designed, in opening it to the public, in the style and expense he has, to solicit the patronage of the ladies of Atlanta particularly. The want of a Dining Room where ladies could resort of themselves, when out shopping, or otherwise detained in the city, and be comfortably and elegantly entertained, was one of the strong inducements to the inauguration of the enterprise.

Ladies will find upon trial, the best attention from the waiters, and everything that can be done, will be, to make it a popular place of resort.

Soliciting your kind consideration, I am, yours, respectfully, E. B. POND, june19-deod1w Proprietor.

Virginia Springs.

THE MONTGOMERY WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, will be open the 1st of June next. Before the war this was the most popular watering place in Virginia. Its situation in Southwestern Virginia on the Eastern slope of the Alleghanies, gives it beautiful scenery, a healthful climate, and pure bracing air. Messrs. Wilson & Lorentz, two enterprising Virginians, have leased it for a term of five years, have thoroughly repaired, newly furnished, and will open it on a scale surpassing its former grandeur. Visitors to this place travel the entire distance by Rail. Getting off at Big Tunnel Station, on the Va. & Tenn. R. R. they are conveyed into the Reception House in ten minutes, on the Springs Branch R. R. New Baths, Billiard and Bowling Saloons, have been erected for the comfort and amusement of visitors. Post-office, Telegraph, Express and Ticket office are on the premises. Daily lines of stages will run to the Greenbriar White, through the wildest scenery in Virginia. Travelers between points North and South, will find this a most delightful resting place. The fare has been reduced to the moderate price of $3 per day, $20 per week, and $70 per month, giving the privilege of special rates to larger parties for longer time. may7-2taw2m

DR. JOHN BULL'S Great Remedies.

DR. JOHN BULL,

Manufacturer and Vendor of the Celebrated

Smith's Tonic Syrup,

FOR THE CURE OF

AGUE AND FEVER,

—OR—

Chills and Fever.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and andSouthwestern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

Bull's Worm Destroyer.

To my United States and World-wide Readers.

I have received many testimonials from professional and medical men, as my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following letter from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever received. Dr. Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be written in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctor says of BULL'S WORM DESTROYER:

VILLANOW, Walker Co., Ga., June 29, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" several trials, and find it wonderfully efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary, they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine direct from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line M. D.'s, but I see no just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms. I am, sir, most respectfully,

JULIUS P. CLEMENT M. D

Bull's Sarsaparilla

A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.

READ THE CAPTAIN'S LETTER AND THE LETTER FROM HIS MOTHER.

BENTON BARRACK'S, MO., April 30 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficiency of your Sarsaparrilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case

I was wounded two years ago—was taken prisoner and confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet I have not set up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired, and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in anything else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige.

Capt. C. P. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.

P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1865, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Captain Johnson:

DR. BULL—Dear Sir: My husband, Dr. C. S Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in Central New York, where he died, leaving the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhœa and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio and Iowa, for scrofula, fever scores and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever sores were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover.

Respectfully, JENNIE JOHNSON

BULL'S CEDRON BITTERS

AUTHENTIC DOCUMENTS.

ARKANSAS HEARD FROM.

Testimony of Medical Men

STONEY POINT, White Co., Ark., May 23, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.

My son-in-law, who was with me in the store, has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.

Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and he also improved.

Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters. Indeed, the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines this fall, especially of your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care Rice & Neely.

Respectfully, C. B. WALKER.

Waiting.

Learn to wait—life's hardest lesson,
Canned, perchance, through blinding tears;
While the heart-throbs sadly echo,
To the tread of passing years.

Learn to wait—hope's slow fruition;
Faint not, though the way seems long;
There is joy in each condition,
Hearts, though suffering, may grow strong.

Constant sunshine, howe'er welcome,
Ne'er would ripen fruit or flower;
Giant oaks owe half their greatness
To the scathing tempest's power.

Thus a soul, untouched by sorrow,
Aims not at a higher state;
Joy seeks not a brighter morrow,
Only sad hearts learn to wait.

Human strength and human greatness,
Spring not from life's sunny side,
Heroes must be more than driftwood,
Floating on a waveless tide.

CITY AFFAIRS.

The City Expenditures—Street Improvements.

To the Honorable Mayor and Council of the City of Atlanta:

In the published proceedings of the last Council meeting, it is stated that the City Engineer had, upon the recommendation of a special committee of that body, made an estimate of the cost of opening Hunter street, at the Macon and Western Railroad, by running a long tunnel entirely under both tracks of that road. This estimated cost was not given in the published proceedings, but some who were present, at the meeting, say the estimate is between $5,000 and $6,000.

This amount will, no doubt, be far below the cost of such a work as this, but if it is correct, and the cost will be no more, it would be well for our city tax-payers to study this matter a little, and our City Fathers to reflect, before spending the people's money for this purpose. We trust the Finance Committee, who have the confidence of the people, will give this matter a thorough scrutiny before recommending the measure. They are efficient men, have the trust of the city, and so far the promises of their friends have been rendered in their department of the present city administration. Currency has superceded the depreciated city checks, and the coupon-bonds of the city are eagerly sought, at very near par. This is all satisfactory.

But the year is not yet out. In July and August, some forty or fifty thousand must be paid out in currency to meet maturing obligations, and Atlanta is daily suffering for improvements, much more needed than this tunnel. We think the Council have acted wisely in deciding to bridge the Georgia Railroad at Bell street; to widen the Butler street passage under the same road, etc., etc. A bridge across the State Road opposite Dean and Payne, is very greatly needed, and would, at this time, be a greater benefit to Atlanta, than the proposed tunnel. A passable street, around the city, on the corporation line, would be a vast improvement. It would enhance the value of outside property to such an extent as to bring ten thousand dollars into the city treasury the first year, by increased taxes, and would not cost more than five thousand dollars, in all, to make it.

But what benefit at present, would arise from tunneling the railroad at Hunter street? What is the necessity for this immense expenditure? Mitchell street runs parallel with Hunter, and crosses the railroad at even grade therewith, at the Macon and Western depot. This street is not 200 yards south of Hunter, and is intersected by cross streets running north and south, at every block, furnishing convenient approach to all the houses on or near Hunter street. It is also a main street, leading to the country, which is not worked out in order to the corporation line, much as the city would be benefitted thereby. Yet, in face of these facts, we find a grave proposition made to perform a most costly work where it is comparatively not necessary—certainly not as urgently needed as a hundred things which could be done for less than one-fifth the reported estimate. What community will be specially benefitted by this measure? What property will be enough enhanced in value to increase the taxes to the amount of $6,000 or $8,000, let alone what such a job will actually cost?

We hope the Mayor and Council will consider this matter well, that the Finance Committee, who have so far shown themselves, efficient, will not give the measure their sanction, and that the people everywhere—the tax-payers—will keep a watch and let their views on this measure be known.

We make these suggestions in no captious spirit, but to prevent a blunder that will work to the damage of

EVERYBODY.

A CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD!

WE challenge the world to produce a better or a stronger recommendation for any article for any purpose than the following:

NOVEMBER 1st, 1865.

We very cheerfully unite our testimony in favor of the great merits of the valuable disinfectant manufactured by PROF. DARBY, and known as Darby's Prophylactic Fluid. From the reputation of Prof. Darby as a scientific gentleman, from our own knowledge of this preparation, and from the general esteem in which it is held wherever known, we have no hesitation in recommending it as one of the most valuable household articles with which we are acquainted.

$75 To $200 EVERYWHERE, MALE AND Female, to introduce throughout the Southern States the Genuine Improved Common-Sense Family Sewing Machine. This machine will stitch, hem, fell, tuck, quilt, bind, braid and embroider in a most superior manner. Price only $20. Fully warranted for five years. We will pay $1,000 for any machine that will sew a stronger, more beautiful, and more elastic seam than ours. It makes the Elastic Lock-Stitch. Every second stich can be cut and still the cloth cannot be pulled apart without tearing it. We pay agents from $75 to $200 per month and expenses, or a commission from which twice that amount can be made.
Address S. M. TOLIVER & CO. Franklin, Ky., West Point, Ga.
CAUTION: Do not be imposed upon by other parties palming off worthless cast-iron machines under the same name or otherwise. Ours is the only genuine and really practical machine manufactured. nov1-d&wtf
